ACHIEVEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE

Summary of main achievements of the charity during the year

2021/22 was a period of rebuilding and recovery following the challenges of the Covid 19 pandemic in 2020/21. The impacts of the pandemic continue to affect the charity and our beneficiaries. Internally we have had to adapt our established ways of working to meet new expectations and restrictions as well as support changes to the staff team and board of trustees. Across the sector audiences and participants have been slow to return to in person activities and this is reflected in our work at Northern Print.

We have continued to evolve as a dynamic organisation responding to the challenges faced in society whilst we rebuild post-Covid. We learnt many new skills during the pandemic and are alive to the opportunities and very real need that have been revealed through the adaptations we made during 2020/21.

"Northern Print is an essential part of the arts in the North East. NP really cares for its artists and its audience, those who come to take part, those who come to see and to buy. Its educational programme is innovative and exciting and gives an amazing hands-on experience to the adult and young learners who take part." (Audience Survey)

OPENING UP AND REACHING OUT

In 2021/22 we welcomed back the many individuals and groups we work with to Northern Print. It was such a pleasure to see so many diverse people enjoying the studio and gallery again and to gain a better insight into the role we had had in so many people's lives during Covid. We had worked hard to continue to engage people in printmaking through online activities, participatory projects and through the many newly devised ways of working we had developed.

We gradually increased our in-person work as Covid restrictions were eased, we also continued to work online to engage with those who weren't yet ready to return to in person activity whilst also exploring the new-found audiences and possibilities for online engagement. Many activities began to blend in person and online activity.

Returning post Covid has been a mix of relief to be able to return to the studio - whilst also adopting new approaches, retaining new audiences, and continuing to evolve new ways of working. We are acutely aware of the ongoing need for our work that can help address many of the challenges our communities face post-Covid. We still have many studio users who due to underlying health conditions are not ready to return in person; the need to support children and younger people who have missed out on keys stages of development and learning; the positive impact we can have for people struggling with their health and mental wellbeing and how we can act as a vital support for people feeling socially isolated. The range of workshops and activities we have delivered as well as the day-to-day warm welcome and access to the gallery and studio have had a positive impact on many people throughout 2021/22.

Our main achievements for the year include:

- · Re-opening the studio and re-engaging studio users
- Delivering new digital learning programme
- Working with UK and international print studios to share learning and connect digitally
- Delivering programme of in-person events and activities
- Supporting artists through skills-sharing, bursaries, exhibitions and economically through freelance contracts and sales of artwork
- Engaging with schools
- Engaging with community groups
- Creating spaces and activities to bring people together post Covid.

PRINT STUDIO ACTIVITY

The open access print studio emerged from lockdowns with new opening hours, online booking system and designated workspaces for artists. Investment in equipment was required post-Covid to create designated workspaces within the studio and to purchase multiple sets of smaller handheld equipment to avoid sharing and to allow for thorough cleaning after use.

We found that many studio users were desperate to return, and we welcomed new members who had discovered printmaking during the lockdown period or encountered Northern Print online. Others, particularly those who had especially challenging experiences through Covid or were more vulnerable to Covid and reluctant to attend the studio or perhaps use public transport to get here, were more reluctant to return.

We knew that many studio users would have lost confidence in their technical skills or were lacking in artistic inspiration would need more support to re-engage. With this in mind we developed a programme of skill-sharing sessions – both online and in person. These sessions covered a range of printmaking processes and were delivered by Northern Print staff and the studio users themselves. We also created 'Love Nature More' and took part in 20:20 print exchange giving studio users the inspiration and motivation to begin making prints again.

We supported over 150 studio users to keep people engaged with printmaking through access to the studio and a combination of online and in-person projects and activities during lockdowns and continued Covid19 restrictions. At the beginning of the project period, with our building closed, (we reopened in May 2021), we worked hard to engage with studio users through regular zoom meetups, online support sessions for those people able to make work at home, and projects that brought people together (at a distance) through contributing to joint projects.

Online sessions were designed to broaden studio users' ideas about printmaking and print studios. The range of virtual visits to other print studios through Connecting Print Studios were available free to all studio users and were designed as a showcase to the wealth and diversity of printmaking studios around the world that have residency and bursary programmes open to UK artists.

Activity in the studio was enriched through a number of bursaries awarded to artists through Coronavirus Recovery Funding and Connecting Print Studios. Partnering with D6 – Culture in Transit to work with artists-in-residence Dima Karout and Jane Bizimana.

"Being a studio user has had a major impact on my life but possibly the greatest impact was being taught how to do screen printing. It's a method that suits me but also most accessible when my mobility has deteriorated because I can do a lot of the work on computer and then work with the studio printmaker's help to produce the prints, doing as much as I can in the studio (on good days, I can register & pull most of the prints myself)." #### SUPPORTING ARTISTS

We have supported diverse artists to make, share and sell new work. This includes regular studio users (40% of our registered studio users are professional artists and rely on our facilities to make their work) as well as artists who are not regular studio users or live further afield from Northern Print. This includes exhibiting and representing artists whose work is exhibited and sold either in our building or online. This helps to generate income to support our work and crucially supports the economic wellbeing of artists.

We secured employment for freelance artists through our learning programme and commissions supporting 31 freelance creatives. We advertised for new freelance artists to ensure we had a diversity of artists leading our workshop programmes.

Bursaries were awarded through an open call programme to artists Anne Waggot-Knott; Effie Burns; Suzie Winsor, Lucy May Schofield and Matt Forster. These were targeted at diverse artists who would face barriers to developing new work or gaining printmaking skills without additional support.

Three bursaries were awarded in partnership with Newcastle University Institute of Creative Arts Practice at aimed at supporting graduates who had missed out on practical printmaking experiences due to Covid. These will be awarded in summer 2022.

One new commission was generated with Alaric Hammond to create a street art poster to promote Northern Print re-opening.

We continued to act as a hub and source of information about opportunities for artists working in printmaking. This includes sharing information about opportunities such as residencies, open call exhibitions, funding and signposting through regular newsletters to studio users; access to current specialist publications and support and advice about a range of subjects including writing applications and providing references.

SHARING PRINTMAKING

Gallery exhibitions returned to Northern Print with a small number of outreach exhibitions and displays taking place at other galleries and non-arts venues in the region. We were inevitably cautious about investing in the exhibition programme in the lead in to 2021/22 and were aware of managing artists expectations should further lockdowns be required. We had made commitments to artists whose exhibitions had been postponed or curtailed due to Covid and prioritised their work first and foremost within the programme. This included Japanese printmaking Seiko Tachibana (based in USA) and Newcastle-based mixed-media artist and illustrator Josie Brookes.

Josie Brookes exhibition included prints and collages produced as part of an animation music video for The Warm Digits 'The View from Nowhere'

Freelance tutors and volunteers sharing printmaking skills at Northern Print

Alongside showing work by Seiko Tachibana, other international printmakers were profiled as part of Same Sky which presented 'Scroll'. Scroll was coordinated by Lucy May Schofield who exhibited recent work alongside Bristol -based artist Sarah Duncan. Duncan was nominated for the prestigious Queen Sonja of Norway Print Award in 2022.

20:20 Print Exchange organised by Hot Bed Press in Salford brought together printmakers from 19 print studios to make a swap prints all 20x20cms. 30 artists from Northern Print took part. This popular annual project provides studio artists to opportunity to feel connected to other printmakers nationally and internationally (particularly important post Covid); to discover the work of other studios and to develop their editioning skills (they have to be able to produce an edition of 25). "The 20:20 project probably got me honing skills most – wonderful to be part of something like that!" (Studio member)

'Love Nature More' was another opportunity to welcome studio users back into the studio, to create connections between people and to provide the inspiration and motivation to begin making new work. The theme emerged from 'Small Pleasures' in 2021 and allowed for further exploration on the value of connecting with our natural environment that so many found invaluable during lockdowns. Coordinated by artist and studio user Louise Pallister the exhibition presented new work by 39 studio users. "Love Nature More made a lasting impression on me (both as an observer and as a participant." (Studio member)

Other work exhibited at Northern Print as part of 'Unique and Original' and through the remainder of the public spaces within the building include works by artists at every level including first time printmakers, recent graduates, emerging artists, established UK printmakers such as Bronwen Sleigh and Katherine Jones (who was elected to the Royal Academy in 2022) and international artists such Ellen Heck (USA) and Katsutoshi Yuasa (Japan).

Offsite exhibitions include presenting our 'Collaborative Collagraph', recreating LS Lowry's 'Market Day' painting, made by 30 artists during lockdown at Grainger Market in Newcastle and loaning work commissioned by Northern Print during our time based on Fish Quay North Shields to Low Light Gallery in North Shields – this included printed wellingtons and aprons by textile artist Joanna Kinnersley-Taylor and wood-engraver Hilary Paynter.

Northern Print's gallery provides a welcoming and unintimidating space to browse and buy affordable artworks. We continue our membership of the Own Art scheme offering interest-free loans for purchasing original art and have been working throughout the year to develop online sales as a vital source of income for Northern Print's programme and to support artists.

Ouseburn Open Studios in November combined the gallery exhibition by Sarah Duncan and Lucy May Schofield with have-a-go activities including demonstrations by a range of studio user artists with many more volunteering to assist with activities. This generates a valued sense of engagement and community between studio users and contributes to individuals' confidence and wellbeing Over 400 visitors attended this event over 2 days. Northern Print also participated in the Ouseburn Market, with over 300 visitors coming to Northern Print's stand. Both events are animated, inclusive and key for audience development – the boost these give to our annual programme had been much missed and it was a joy to have people returning to open events.

Other events with hands on activities for all include Make and Mend Festival at Ormesby Hall, Middlesborough.

"Northern Print is a great place, offering inspiration, support and development to professionals and recreational printmakers alike, whether expert or complete beginner. They've been hugely helpful to me as a complete novice; a wonderful friendly, supportive, and inspirational place."

LEARNING AND PARTICIPATION PROGRAMME

The flagship project within our learning programme was 'Reimagining Digital Learning' designed as a pilot to develop exemplar printmaking tuition for artists, adults, schools and community groups. This was funded through an Arts Council England Project Grant.

REIMAGINING DIGITAL LEARNING

This project enabled Northern Print to invest in additional expertise to support the exiting staff team to design, develop and deliver a comprehensive programme of online and blended activity for artists, adults, schools and community groups.

The project delivered the following:

- 740 people as audiences and participants in 65 printmaking classes,
- 5 virtual printmaking studio visits
- 35 formal and informal learning workshops for schools and community groups, and 14 activities delivered as part of wider events
- 5148 online engagements through website, vimeo and social media content developed for the project.
- reached new audiences, with 55% of participants new to Northern Print
- extended geographical reach, with 28% of audiences from outside of the region.

"This was my first attempt at anything like this (apart from potato prints at school 50 years ago). I wasn't sure how such a practical skill could be taught online, but the session was brilliantly organised, friendly and helpful with all the equipment I needed in advance. I am now getting on with trying to develop these skills further with various projects." (Classes and courses feedback)

Freelance artist/ tutor Jo Bourne delivering an online workshop

When in-person workshops returned this was quite slowly. We had to significantly reduce numbers due to the limited spaces at Northern Print for social distancing or through closing the gallery to accommodate larger groups. This included workshops for schools working with GCSE and A Level groups from around the region and workshops for community groups included ongoing work with Friends Action North East (adults with learning disabilities) and Creative Age (people with Dementia and memory problems and their carers). We also attracted groups new to printmaking and Northern Print including Action Foundation (refugees and asylum seekers) as well as online and blended activities with groups further afield such as Celf-Able in Wales and Teenage Cancer Trust.

"Northern Print's workshops were so valuable. Not only did our clients enjoy learning new skills, they also really looked forward to meeting up with other people in their group. Isolation can be a real problem for people from displaced communities, so a group activity like this makes the world of difference." Action Foundation).

"For our young people who are often out of education/employment because of treatment, the chance to do creative workshops with their peers has a positive impact on their mental health. They experience a sense of belonging, as well as the chance to create a new skill and spending some quiet time focused on the task without other distractions." ### ACHIEVEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE (CONTINUED)

Following the disruption to schools during the pandemic, all have been facing challenges in relation to students catching up with missed learning, particularly practical skills that students couldn't gain with home learning. We decided to focus activity on GCSE and A level Art & Design students to support curriculum and portfolio work and to offer students quality printmaking opportunities to improve their changes of achieving good exam grades. Students accessed a broad range of print processes, including screenprinting, woodcut and collagraph and were able to push their work into new areas by engaging with processes not available as part of their normal school learning, for example by accessing (borrowed from NP) equipment and/or using photographic techniques and printing onto fabric. We have been able to work with schools over more than one session, combining online with in-person workshops in school and/or at Northern Print, thus building meaningful and lasting relationships with teachers.

"The students thoroughly enjoyed the experience of working with the artist and developed their screen prints after the sessions. The students included a report on working with an artist in their coursework sketch books, have included their finished prints on their final display boards, and some have gone on to use their print in their final design idea...I would also add there was a real buzz having an artist visit and sharing/ showing work produced in the department - so thank you!" (Teacher, Sacred Heart Catholic High School)

15 students at Jesmond Park Academy (formerly Heaton Manor School and currently rated 'inadequate' by Ofsted) took part in an online workshop (with materials and equipment delivered to school in advance) to support their GCSE exam work. "The tutor was able to demonstrate clearly through the live lesson and make fantastic suggestions which would allow our students to further develop their ideas. Having an external art contact is probably the most valuable for our students because it helps validate what they are doing and why they are doing it." (Teacher, Jesmond Park Academy)

As well as supporting students to create prints to work towards higher exam grades, activity has increased the knowledge and skills of teaching staff, many of whom had limited ability in printmaking. This leaves is strong legacy in terms of skills developed and shared with more students across a range of year groups. "I have personally gained so much from the workshop particularly in the use of specialist woodcutting tools which would not have been possible otherwise. Skills and techniques shown in the workshop are transferable in other printing that we are able to do which would benefit our students in their own personal art journey." (Teacher, Jesmond Park Academy)

Case studies and digital toolkits from our work as part of Reimagining Digital Learning and out other activities from 2021/22 are being collated to be shared on our new learning pages of our website to act as a resource for others to use to develop printmaking skills and ideas. This will be launched in 2022/23.

HEALTH AND WELLBEING

Health and wellbeing was considered across our programme using the NHS '5 Steps to Wellbeing': connect with other people; be physically active; learn new skills; give to others; and mindfulness.

As well as providing access to quality prints and printmaking through events and exhibitions, we have worked with a broad range of community groups, including many supporting people facing challenges and/or experiencing loneliness and isolation, whether due to the pandemic or for other reasons. We know that taking part in art activities is positive for people's wellbeing and we pride ourselves on tailoring our activity to individuals' and groups' needs to ensure anyone can access our printmaking offer, regardless of age, ability or financial circumstances.

We have responded to individuals' personal needs, by providing additional technical support to help overcome physical disabilities and/or one-to-one staff time to support individuals who need additional attention or encouragement. We have also created collaborative projects which have drawn studio members together to work towards an exhibition or other common aim, to keep people connected during the pandemic. We know this work has been valued through responses collected through our annual Studio user survey: 97% of respondents said they have met people through Northern Print that they wouldn't have met otherwise; 73% said they like being part of a creative community; and 48% said that accessing Northern Print supports their health and wellbeing.

"The pandemic has been tough as I'm medically vulnerable, disabled, and live alone so it was especially good for my mental health to participate safely in printmaking - and to be one of the Northern Print members sharing their work with the wider world again." (Studio user)

Bookbinding and printmaking workshops taking place in Northern Print's gallery

We delivered workshops for a wide range of community groups to address unequal access to the arts and/or health and wellbeing issues due to personal circumstances. These have included the continuation of sessions for people we support regularly or have supported before, such as our studio users who have faced health issues and/or isolation over the course of the pandemic, people living with Dementia and their family/carers, and adults with learning disabilities. We have also reached out to a range of groups and organisations we haven't worked with before, including young LGBTQ people experiencing, or at risk of, homelessness, refugees and asylum seekers, and young people living with cancer, many of whom are experiencing mental health and/or other health challenges.

We measured the impacts of our work through ongoing monitoring with groups, organisations and individuals, with comprehensive planning to ensure the activities we were offering met the ambitions and aspirations – as well as any health and wellbeing needs – of each individual group. Feedback from studio users was gathered through a survey to monitor and measure whether we were meeting people's needs as we started to emerge from the early 2021 lockdown. 31 individuals completed the online survey, with 41% shielding as they were vulnerable to covid.

Reponses showed that:

- 83% had been inspired to make new work or research new work
- 61% had been helped to stay connected with others interested in printmaking
- 87% were supported in their wellbeing
- 77% felt less isolated
- 87% felt more motivated.

CONNECTING PRINT STUDIOS

Northern Print devised and led on this national / international project which was developed in collaboration with Newcastle University Institute of Creative Arts Practice. This programme of activity was timed to coincide with Print Goes Pop at Hatton Gallery and designed to use new digital skills and audiences to engage with other print studios around the UK an abroad. Many open access print studios had adapted their wok due to the pandemic, as well as looking at how to address climate change so it was a timely opportunity to make connections, discuss challenges and share best practice. Another aspect of the project was to highlight the range of opportunities within printmaking and print studios for recent graduates.

Connecting Print Studios at Newcastle University

There were a number of elements to the project including:

Exhibition at Long Gallery, Newcastle University of photographs, text and QR codes linking to films and websites for 17 UK and international print studios. Contributing studios: Ballinglen Arts Foundation, Ireland; Double Elephant Print Workshop, UK; East London Printmakers, UK; Edinburgh Printmakers, UK; GG Print Studio, Sweden; Glasgow Print Studio, UK; Highland Print Studio, UK; Hot Bed Press, UK; Jerusalem Print Workshop, Israel; Kala Art Institute, USA; Kip Gresham Editions, UK; La Trampa Gráfica Contemporánea, Mexico; Northern Print, UK; Ratamo Printmaking and Photography Centre, Finland; Sato Mokuhanga, Japan; T.A.C.O. - Workshops for young people to widen participation in higher education in art and design with two schools (Newcastle and Northumberland) with the work produced displayed at Northern Print.
- Three bursaries for recent graduates who had missed out on technical experiences of printmaking due to Covid to develop their work at Northern Print.

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

Following our work through the pandemic we now better understand the potential of using digital technology to support a more diverse range of people to engage with printmaking. This included working remotely with artists as workshop tutors for whom it would have been impractical to teach in person at Northern Print due to their remote setting, disability, or other situation. This was reflected in our workshop and events participants online too.

We adapted our services and programme to engage people with additional needs and/or people who are vulnerable/shielding and others. We have specifically engaged with 118 people with additional needs and/or people who are vulnerable/shielding others including:

- 1-2-1 support to access printmaking facilities.
- Arranged live-streamed tours to gallery exhibitions for people unable to visit in person.

Bespoke workshops and activities for a range of groups with additional needs including online where materials were posted out (Teenage Cancer Trust) or equipment loaned (young people from the Young Queer Arts Group through Curious Arts took part in a printing activity at Dance City, Newcastle, using a portable printing press. The workshop had a Christmas focus and was delivered in December 2021 as part of a Newcastle City Council consultation event about the Hadrian's Wall 1900 Festival. Reimagining Digital Learning made a strong impact on inclusivity and relevance by: introducing new artists from diverse backgrounds and new geographical areas to NP as course tutors and participants in classes and courses; enabling us to work with schools and groups further afield, including a Bradford school with a 98% Asian student intake and a disabled artists' group from Wales; and engaging with a broad range of community groups completely new to NP, including refugees and asylum seekers, people with a range of disabilities, people vulnerable and shielding due to illness and/or the pandemic, and LGBTQ groups.

We continue to monitor the diversity of the people we engage with through our programme, the diversity of our freelance creatives and volunteers.

ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY

We have continued to monitor and review the impact on the environment of our work. Additional measures brought in to help managed the spread of Covid meant that in the short term our use of plastic did increase, this was the case for many others too. We have begun to reduce this where it is safe to do so. We have reduced the use of plastic in the gallery and for print sales – using other materials for wrapping wherever possible.

We have capitalised on the increased use of online working to reduce travel to meetings and have used this for teaching outreach workshops – reducing our carbon footprint. For local workshops we now use a trolley for materials and travel on foot for workshops rather than making short journeys in our van.

Awareness of environmental issues continues to influence our programme. Activities such as collagraph-making used waste materials are included in our programme and it is a theme increasingly addressed by the artists we work with. It was also a key topic for discussion between as part of Future Print Studios with a collective desire to pursue this further.

"I really cannot speak highly enough of what Northern Print provides in terms of a supportive, creative community of both amateurs and professionals, introducing printmaking techniques to the broader public, and providing a showcase for some truly exceptional work". #### FUTURE PLANS

We continue to rebuild post-Covid by responding to the existing and emerging needs of our communities. Having explored the possibilities of connecting digitally this is as an aspect of our work we are keen to continue to develop alongside returning to in-person working. We are looking at how we can continue to invest in this strand of work to enable us to retain and grow these audiences.

Our education space has always been too small to accommodate larger groups or groups with support workers or mobility aids and we have long-held ambition to build a new learning studio dedicated to printmaking. Covid placed even further pressure on our small spaces with workshops at Northern Print now taking place in the gallery on the days we are closed. We are pleased to have been awarded Arts Council England Capital funding to develop 'Print Space' a dedicated new space for teaching printmaking which will meet the needs of multiple groups. We were awarded £450k towards the total project cost of £850k.

Northern Print is part of Arts Council England's national portfolio and receives regular funding. As a result of Covid, 2021/22 was an extension year to the previous funding agreement. An application was submitted for the following three years, 2023/24 to 2025/26, which was successful. Northern Print will be receiving standstill funding of £108.610 for each of the three years.

Northern Print also successfully applied to Newcastle Culture Investment Fund and was awarded £15k per year for the next three years. This is focused on working with people and communities in Newcastle upon Tyne.

STRUCTURE, GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT

Governing Documents

Northern Print is a charitable company limited by guarantee, incorporated on 11 February 1994 and registered as a charity on 22 November 2012.

The charity is controlled by its governing document, its Memorandum & Articles of Association, and constitutes a limited company, limited by guarantee, as defined by the Companies Act.

The Directors of the company are also Trustees of the charity.

Eligibility for membership of the charity, and membership of the Board of Trustees, is governed by the Articles of Association. There are no restrictions in the governing document on the operation of the charity other than those imposed by general charity law.

Charitable Purpose

The Objects of the charity are to foster awareness, skills, knowledge, understanding and appreciation of the visual arts with specific, but not exclusive, reference to printmaking for the benefit of the general public.

Structure and Governance

The charity currently has a Board of seven non-executive Trustees.

During the year, our previous chair Alan Wann resigned, and this role is now shared between two trustees, Carol Bell and Jeanne Hale. The board has been strengthened by the recruitment of two new trustees, Catherine Winfield, who brings financial, compliance and commercial experience, and Lucy Currie, who brings experience in learning and education fields.

The Board meets a minimum of four times per year. The board receives written reports and agendas which are circulated in advance of meetings from the Director and meetings are chaired in turn by one of the Co-chairs. The board has an annual calendar to ensure essential business is discussed and reviewed in a timely basis. Ongoing governance of the charity is maintained through regular meetings with the Director.

Recruitment and Appointment of Board of Trustees

Trustees are elected to the Board based on discussions and recommendations offered by Trustees and outside advisors to the charity, as well as through a range of advertising channels.

Trustee Induction and Training

New Trustees are inducted by the Chair of the Board and Director and are provided with a range of resources to support their understanding of Northern Print's activities. The balance of the board is reviewed on an annual basis with reference to current skills on the board and the operational needs of the charity. Trustee training is delivered either through external advisors or charity members of staff.

STRUCTURE, GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT (CONT'D)

Reserves Policy

The Trustees have reviewed the charity's needs for reserves in line with the guidance issued by the Charity Commission, having reviewed the risks facing the organisation, seeking to maintain a level of reserves which enables the charity to operate effectively with financial stability and the means to fulfil its charitable purpose.

The Trustees aim to hold a level of Unrestricted Reserves which enables the charity to have sufficient working capital to continue to operate and also reflects the risks associated with shortfalls in funding, especially withdrawal of support from existing funders.

If alternative sources of funding were not forthcoming, then this amount would provide the means for Northern Print to settle any outstanding contracts and close the company in an orderly manner.

We have reviewed these costs in relation to statutory redundancy pay and the liabilities for our building lease. We have calculated these as follows: £45,000 for statutory redundancy costs; £30,000 for the building lease, insurance and services for which we have an annual break clause. We would also be liable for dilapidation charges which the Trustees anticipate paying through the sale of remaining assets.

Therefore, the Trustees anticipate the Unrestricted Reserves needed to fulfil these criteria as £75,000 as a minimum, and the target level of Unrestricted Reserves to be in the range of £75,000 to £100,000.

The charity's total Unrestricted Reserves at 31 March 2022 are £131,842, but the Trustees have agreed to designate £30,000 of these Reserves as a 'Capital Development Fund', providing funding towards future aspirational capital development plans.

Free Reserves, defined as non-designated Unrestricted Reserves minus the value of Unrestricted Tangible Fixed Assets, are therefore £52,488 and therefore fall below the target range.

The Trustees aim, through their budgeting processes, to restore Free Reserves to within the target range within 3 years.

The Reserves Policy was last reviewed and approved on 13 December 2022. The Board regularly reviews the level of reserves that are required to ensure that they are adequate to fulfil our continuing obligations and to allow the organisation to fulfil its charitable purpose.

Grant Making Policy

The charity does not currently engage in grant-making activity, other than the occasional award of small bursaries.

The Contribution of Volunteers

The charity normally works with approximately 25 volunteers per year.

OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Aims & Objectives

Northern Print is an open access printmaking studio and gallery whose mission is "to make a mark on people and places by championing printmaking" supporting artists, encouraging and providing learning and advocacy.

Northern Print is a nationally significant centre for printmaking in the North East of England with an international outlook. It is the only organisation of its kind in the Northern region and has a unique role to play within the cultural infrastructure.

Northern Print was established in 1994 and relocated from North Shields Fish Quay to its current award-winning, purpose-built premises located within the Ouseburn Valley area, close to Newcastle City Centre, in October 2006. The building houses an open access printmaking studio, a gallery, education room and editioning studio.

- Access to the printmaking studio through an annual membership, giving access to professional printmaking equipment, materials and technical support
- Free events such as Late Shows and Ouseburn Open Studios, where the studio is open for all people to meet the artists who work here, see the printing presses in action and 'have a go' activities for all
- Talks programme
- Volunteering and work placement opportunities for young people

Ensuring our Work delivers our Aims

We review our aims, objectives and activities each year. This review looks at what we achieved and the outcomes of our work in the previous 12 months. The review looks at the success of each key activity and the benefits they have brought to those groups of people we are set up to help. The review also helps us ensure our aims, objectives and activities remained focused on our stated purposes.

Public Benefit

The Trustees understand and have discussed the implications of the provisions of the Charities Act 2006, which state that all charities must demonstrate that they are established for public benefit, and have had due regard to the public benefit guidance issued by the Charity Commission. The Trustees believe that the charity meets both of the key principles.

Principle 1 – There must be an identifiable benefit, or benefits

Learning and participation are at the heart of Northern Print, whether in terms of artists furthering their professional practice, or schools, community groups and individuals learning printmaking.

The organisation carries out in-house workshops and activities in its print studio and fully equipped education studio; and an outreach programme for schools and community groups. People of all ages and different backgrounds have the opportunity to find out about printmaking and experience it first-hand. Northern Print has a programme of learning activities and events specifically designed for children and young people, including formal, informal and family focussed workshops, activity delivered in partnership with local schools, teacher training, the Inky Print Club and work experience opportunities.

Principle 2 - Benefit must be to the public, or a section of the public

Northern Print's work is available to all members of the public.

Risk Management

The Trustees of the charity regularly review the major governance, operational and financial risks which the charity faces as part of its annual business planning process and confirm that systems have been established to mitigate these risks.

Northern Print has a risk management strategy in place which comprises:

- an annual review of the strategic risks the charity may face via the business plan
- the establishment of systems and procedures to mitigate those risks identified
- the implementation of procedures designed to minimise any potential impact on the charity should those risks materialise.

The Trustees are satisfied that appropriate financial systems and controls and employment policies and practices are in place.

The Trustees consider the key risks facing the charity at this time and the mitigating actions taken to be as follows:

Failure to secure adequate funding income (from trusts and foundations, earned income, individual giving and the impact of any shortfall on liquidity of the charity).

- Fundraising strategy regularly reviewed by trustees, discussed with Director and amended where appropriate.
- Regular review of reserves policy along with financial forecasts, cash flow management and review of operational business plan.

Navigating the challenges arising from the current economic climate, maximising income generation, fund raising and donations, minimising expenditure at a time of uncertainty.

 Regular financial monitoring, ongoing communication between Director and trustees, flexibility and adaptability adapted as keystone principles within our business plan.

Compliance with legislation and regulations appropriate to the activities, size and structure of the charity.

 Balanced board with experienced trustees, an annual board calendar with applicable requirements noted, responsibilities assigned and monitored.

The Trustees also manage the general financial risks arising by ensuring that:

- Prudent budgets have been set for the next financial year
- The charity maintains a prudent, low cost operating base
- Regular management accounts are provided, showing the performance against budget
- Contingency plans are in place should income levels appear unlikely to reach targets
- Reserves policies have been adopted which provide an appropriate amount of uncommitted reserves which will enable the charity to meet its liabilities.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE TRUSTEES

The Trustees (who are also the Directors of Northern Print for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the Trustees' Annual Report and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the Trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company and of the incoming resources and application of resources, including the income and expenditure, of the charitable company for that period.

In preparing these financial statements, the Trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP;
- make judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable UK Accounting Standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charitable company will continue in operation.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records that disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. The Trustees are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charitable company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

INDEPENDENT EXAMINER'S REPORT TO THE MEMBERS ON THE UNAUDITED ACCOUNTS OF NORTHERN PRINT STUDIO LIMITED FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31 MARCH 2022

I hereby report to the Trustees of Northern Print (Charity Registration Number 1149872) on my examination of the accounts for the year ended 31 March 2022 set out on pages 28 to 40.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the charity's Trustees (and also its Directors for the purposes of company law), you are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006 ('the 2006 Act').

Having satisfied myself that the accounts of the Company are not required to be audited under Part 16 of the 2006 Act and are eligible for independent examination, I report in respect of my examination of your charity's accounts as carried out under section 145 of the Charities Act 2011 ('the 2011 Act'). In carrying out my examination I have followed the Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5) (b) of the 2011 Act.

Independent Examiner's Statement

Since the Company's gross income exceeded £250,000, your examiner must be a member of a body listed in section 145 of the 2011 Act. I confirm that I am qualified to undertake the examination because I am a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountant in England and Wales, which is one of the listed bodies.

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination giving me cause to believe:

- accounting records were not kept in respect of the Company as required by section 386 of the 2006 Act; or
- 2. the accounts do not accord with those records; or
- 3. the accounts do not comply with the accounting requirements of section 396 of the 2006 Act other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair view' which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination; or
- 4. the accounts have not been prepared in accordance with the methods or principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice for accounting and reporting by charities (applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS102)).

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

The financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis, modified to include certain financial instruments at fair value.

Advantage has been taken of the provisions in the SORP for Charities applying FRS 102 Update Bulletin 1 not to prepare a statement of cashflows.

The financial statements are prepared in sterling, which is the functional currency of the charity.

Income

All income is included in the statement of financial activities when the charity is entitled to the income, any performance related conditions attached have been met or are fully within the control of the charity, the income is considered probable and the amount can be quantified with reasonable accuracy.

The following specific policies are applied to particular categories of income:

- Donations and legacy income is received by way of donations, legacies, grants and gifts and is included in full in the Statement of Financial Activities when receivable.
- Grants, where entitlement is not conditional on the delivery of a specific performance by the charity, are recognised when the charity becomes unconditionally entitled to the grant.

Operating Leases

The charity classifies the lease of certain types of equipment as operating leases as the title to the equipment remains with the lessor. Rental charges are charged against income on a straight-line basis over the period of the lease.

Tangible Fixed Assets and Depreciation

Depreciation is provided on any fixed assets at rates calculated to write off the assets over their remaining useful lives as follows:

Motor Vehicles - 25% straight line on cost
Plant & Machinery - 10% straight line on cost
Fixtures & Fittings - 25% straight line on cost
Long Leasehold - 10% straight line on cost
Property Improvements - 10% straight line on cost

A full year's depreciation charge is applied in the year of acquisition and no charge is made in the year of disposal.

Impairment of Fixed Assets

A review for indicators of impairment is carried out at each reporting date, with the recoverable amount being estimated where such indicators exist. Where the carrying value exceeds the recoverable amount, the asset is impaired accordingly. Prior impairments are also reviewed for possible reversal at each reporting date.

Financial Instruments

A financial asset or a financial liability is recognised only when the charity becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Basic financial instruments are initially recognised at the amount receivable or payable including any related transaction costs.

Current assets and current liabilities are subsequently measured at the cash or other consideration expected to be paid or received and not discounted.

Debt instruments are subsequently measured at amortised cost where there is a material adjustment.

Fund Accounting

Unrestricted funds are available for use at the discretion of the trustees in furtherance of the purposes of the charity.

Designated funds are unrestricted funds earmarked by the trustees for specific purposes.

Restricted funds are subjected to restrictions on their expenditure imposed by the donor.

Stocks

Stocks are valued at the lower of cost and net realisable value, after making due allowance for obsolete and slow moving items.

These estimates and judgements are continually reviewed and are based on experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

There are no significant judgements or estimation uncertainty included within the financial statements.
